Overview

The Grit Fund supports unincorporated and collaborative artist-organized activity that contributes significantly to Baltimore's arts landscape but seldom qualifies for traditional funding. Established with generous support from The Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts, the Grit Fund expands Warhol's Regional Regranting Program to the Mid-Atlantic, encouraging projects that generate opportunities and create platforms for artists to engage with each other and with the public. Funded activities can include but are not limited to: exhibitions, publications, public events, public art, film screenings, the ongoing work of an existing arts venue or collective, and the founding of a new arts venue or collective.

The Grit Fund, administered by The Contemporary, provides 8-12 grants in amounts between $1,000 – $6,000, totaling $50,000 annually. The Grit Fund accepts proposals from non-incorporated, artist-organized initiatives that work collaboratively and reside in Baltimore City or Baltimore County. Projects must take place in either Baltimore City or Baltimore County and be accessible to the general public. The Contemporary's mission is inspired by three guiding principles: artists matter, collaboration is key, and audience is everywhere. In keeping with this mission, the Grit Fund values risk-taking, encourages collaboration, and seeks to expand points of access to contemporary art.

Since its inception, the Grit Fund has supported 23 projects, awarding $117,000 in project funding with supplemental support from the Robert W. Deutsch Foundation.

Grant Amounts

The Grit Fund will award 8–12 grants between $1,000 and $6,000.

Funding Priorities

- » The Grit Fund strongly prioritizes projects that present the work of multiple artists.
- » Preference is given to projects that are unlikely to be funded through traditional frameworks of support.
- » Only proposals submitted by non-incorporated, artist-organized entities will be considered.
- » Projects must be accessible to or engage the public via process, presentation, production, or publication.

Eligibility

- » Projects must be collaborative i.e., present the creative contributions of more than one author or artist.
- » Projects must be rooted in or strongly related to visual art. Performance or media-based projects are only eligible if visual art is a core component.

- » Lead organizer must be a resident of Baltimore City or Baltimore County. The lead organizer is the primary contact during the application and granting process.
- » The majority of collaborators must be residents of Baltimore City or Baltimore County.
- » Lead organizer cannot be a student during time of application. Students may be listed as collaborators on projects.
- » Applicants may be a lead organizer on only one application but may be listed as a collaborator on multiple applications.
- » Resulting project activities must be accessible to Baltimore's public and be presented in Baltimore City or Baltimore County.
- » Applications from 501c3 non-profit organizations will NOT be considered.
- » LLC's are eligible if their primary purpose is not commercial and they are not a for-profit enterprise.

How to Apply

Applications must be completed online. Paper applications will not be accepted. Access the online application at thecontemporary.submittable.com
 Submissions open: December 6, 2016
 Submissions close: January 30, 2017 at 11:59 PM EST
 The online application will prompt you to provide the following:

Basic Contact Information

- Name, address, and email of lead applicant and up to five additional collaborators.

Project Summary

(100 words max.)

- Brief summary of your proposed project.

Full Project Description

(700 words max.)

- Detailed description of your project that addresses: the form the project will take, where the project will take place (location/venue), what motivates the project, and any opportunities the project offers for local artist support. Describe your anticipated audience or participants. Describe the public component of your project and how your project will be made accessible to Baltimore audiences.

Biography

(200 words max.)

- Narrative biography for the lead organizer or group and key collaborators.

Project Timeline

- Project timeline including: project phases and key dates during project implementation (April 2017 - March 2018).

Project Budget

Download the budget form at gritfund.org. Complete the budget form and upload it to your online application as a PDF.

Visual Support Material

Provide documentation of past work and/or sketches for your proposed project. If your group is newly formed and unable to provide examples of existing collaborations, choose support materials that will give the jury a sense of collaborators' individual practices or past work. You will be prompted to upload the following support materials:

- » Up to 5 digital images formatted as either JPG, GIF, or PNG. Images should not exceed 800 x 600 pixels, 180 dpi.
- » Up to 2 URLs to videos. Submit links to videos that you have already uploaded to an online platform such as YouTube or Vimeo. You cannot submit the videos directly. If there is a password to view the video, include it in the Support Materials Description List. Up to 5 minutes total of video may be submitted for review.
- » Up to 2 URLs to web-based projects. Please enter the specific URL to be viewed; the jury will not spend time browsing a website in its entirety.

Support Materials Description List

Provide an annotated list that corresponds with each image provided in your Visual Support Materials. Include: lead organizer / group's name, title, year, medium, and brief description.

Promotional Image and Blurb

Image such as an artwork, documentation, or graphic identity and 2 sentences which The Contemporary can use to promote the public component of your project.

Review Process and Selection Criteria

The Contemporary's review process will take approximately 8 weeks. To be considered for funding, completed applications must be submitted on time and meet all eligibility requirements. All proposals are evaluated based on criteria including:

- » Artistic Strength
  - Overall vision
  - Innovative, creative, and conceptual strength of project
- » Feasibility
  - Capacity to carry out and complete the project
- » Public Interface
  - Accessibility to the public
  - Commitment to serving a local constituency

Proposals will be reviewed by a five person panel comprised of local and national artists and arts professionals currently working in the field of visual arts. The Contemporary staff members do not serve on the jury.

Information Sessions and Workshops

The Contemporary will lead three free information sessions and three free workshops. Each of the three info sessions will cover the same information and provide details on the Grit Fund application process, guidelines, eligibility, funding priorities, and more.

Each of the three workshops focuses on a different topic outlined to the right. You are welcome to attend just the info session or workshop portion of each event, or both. While attending an info session and/or workshop is strongly encouraged, attendance is not required to apply for funding. No RSVP necessary.

Responsibilities

Grant recipients are expected to maintain communication with The Contemporary. Awardees are asked to complete a short report after completion of the project in addition to checking in periodically with The Contemporary throughout the grant period.

FAQs

What do you mean by collaborative?

Collaborative projects present the creative contributions of more than one author. Projects can take many forms. Examples include exhibitions presenting the works of multiple artists, web-based projects with multiple contributors, publications with several writers, a series of exhibitions / publications / screenings / lectures / prints each featuring a different artist, etc.

What types of projects does Grit Fund support?

Grit Fund supports a wide range of artist-initiated collaborative projects that showcase the work of more than one artist, are unlikely to be funded otherwise, and engage the public. Funded activities include exhibitions, publications, public events, public art, film screenings, lecture series, artist residencies, the ongoing work of an existing arts venue or collective, the founding of a new arts venue or collective, and more. Please refer to our eligibility requirements and funding priorities.

What types of projects will not be funded?

Projects proposed by artists outside of Baltimore City or Baltimore County, projects proposed by an individual artist to present their own work, projects that are a part of a registered 501(c)(3) non profit organization's programming, projects proposed by students, and projects that do not have a public component will not receive funding. Please refer to our eligibility requirements and funding priorities.

While my group is not a 501(c)3, nonprofit organization, I want to present my work in a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization's space and use their facilities. Is my project still eligible for funding?

Only artist initiated projects are eligible for funding. Working with a nonprofit, such as the use of their facilities for a performance or event does not necessarily mean your project is not eligible for funding. However, the Grit Fund is not intended to cover production costs that should be covered by an established organization as a part of their regular program.

Can I apply for a grant to acquire equipment?

Equipment purchase or rental can be included as an expense as a part of a larger project. You may not apply for a grant with the sole purpose of acquiring equipment.

Can I apply to fund general operating for a new or existing art space?

Yes. Examples of general operating costs associated with the launch of a new arts space or the support of an existing arts space include: rent, utilities, artist and designer fees, materials and supplies, and promotional materials.

Can I include artist fees in my budget?

Yes, include artist fees in your budget to compensate participants, collaborators and/or yourself.

Do we need to have a confirmed venue to submit an application?

No. However, if a specific venue or site is crucial to the realization of your project, having a confirmed venue speaks to the feasibility of your project. If you do not have a confirmed venue, describe the types of venues suitable for the presentation of your project, and how you plan to research and secure a venue. Be as specific as possible.

Who should be listed as the lead organizer?

The lead organizer will be the primary contact for the project during the application and granting process. The lead organizer will also be responsible for any taxes on the award. Additionally, the lead organizer must reside in Baltimore City or Baltimore County and cannot be a student at the time of application or during the granting period.

Please elaborate on the roles of the lead organizer, collaborators, and participants.

The lead organizer is the primary contact for the project. Lead organizers and collaborators envision, organize, and implement the project. Participants do not play an administrative role. An artist who is supported by the project (i.e., their work will be presented) but does not play an organizing role is considered a participant.

How much funding can I request for my project?

You may request any amount between $1000 and $6000.

How can I learn about past recipients projects?

Visit gritfund.org to view project descriptions of funded projects from earlier rounds.

About the Regional Regranting Program

The Regional Regranting Program aims to support vibrant, under-the-radar artistic activity by partnering with leading cultural institutions in communities across the country. The program allows The Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts to reach the sizeable population of informal, non-incorporated artist collectives and to support their alternative gathering spaces, publications, websites, events and other projects. The Foundation plans to expand this program with partner organizations in areas where the level of on-the-ground, self-organized artistic activity is highest.

The Foundation's longest running regional regranting program, administered by San Francisco's Southern Exposure, has been in operation since 2007. With the formation of the Grit Fund, The Contemporary joins ten regranting programs in San Francisco, CA (Southern Exposure's Alternative Exposure); Kansas City, MO (Charlotte Street Foundation and Spencer Museum of Art's Rocket Grants); Chicago, IL (Threewalls and Gallery 400's Propeller Fund); Houston, TX (Diverse Works, Aurora Picture Show, and Project Row Houses' The Idea Fund); Portland, OR (Portland Institute for Contemporary Art's The Precipice Fund); Miami, FL (Cannonball's Wavemaker Grants); Portland, ME (SPACE Gallery's The Kindling Fund); New Orleans, LA (Press Street, Ashé Cultural Arts Center, and Pelican Bomb's Platforms Fund); and Albuquerque, NM (516 Arts' Fulcrum Fund).

About The Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts

The Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts was established in 1987 for the advancement of the visual arts. The Foundation's objective is to foster innovative artistic expression and the creative process by encouraging and supporting cultural organizations that in turn, directly or indirectly, support artists and their work. The Foundation values the contribution these organizations make to artists and audiences and to society as a whole by supporting, exhibiting, and interpreting a broad spectrum of contemporary artistic practice.
